Did you know about the range of extracurricular and support spaces available to Wayne State School of Medicine students?

These specially suited rooms are available in three primary buildings on the SOM campus: Scott Hall, Mazurek Educational Commons, and Detroit Receiving Hospital in the University Health Center.

These rooms are designated to accommodate the needs of the campus community as students proceed through their medical education journey.

Students are encouraged to take advantage of these spaces to relax, study and learn in a new location, find a quiet place for prayer and reflection, or simply find privacy on campus.
